

PAC (Professional Advancement Credit)
New Course Offering

“Environmental and Water Issues Around the World”

The international area studies centers at UW-Madison are sponsoring this professional development opportunity. Each week we will explore the impact of environmental and water issues on different world regions, examining the facts, media representation, and history that have led to the current global crisis. Faculty, staff and graduate students with first-hand experience and academic training in various world regions will join us each week to share their insight and engage in discussions with the group. The goal of this class is for teachers to examine their knowledge and preconceptions about places in the world, and how best to approach discussing world issues in the classroom.

Date and Time: Tuesdays: Oct. 21, Oct. 28, Nov. 11, Nov. 18, Nov. 25
4:15-6:15 p.m.

Location: Randall School 1802 Regent St, Madison, 53726

Credit: This course can be taken EITHER for PAC credit OR for one UW-Madison graduate credit. If you wish to take this course for UW-Madison credit, please contact Nancy Heingartner (information below).

Contacts:

MMSD- Jan Lorch

phone: 204-4222 or e-mail: jlorch@madison.k12.wi.us

UW-Madison – Nancy Heingartner

phone: 265-6298 or e-mail outreach@creeca.wisc.edu